THE HARTFORD REPUBLICAN.

OFFICIAL ORGAN OF THE PARTY IN THE FOURTH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT.

VOL. IX.

HARTFORD, KY., FRIDAY, JUNE 18, 1897.

NO. 47.

DARKNESS AND DAYLIGHT.
Or Lights and Shadows of New York.

In his new and superbly illustrated work a noble Christian woman in tell the thrilling story of her personal experience in Gospel, temperance, mission, and rescue work in a great city. No recent publication is now commanding so much attention nor has any other called forth such ringing words of "God-speed" from ministers and eminent women. It has been preached about from famous pulpits, read by tens of thousands of subscribers, and made the subject of many a clergyman's Sunday evening lecture. Its authorship is fourfold, its four authors being no less than:—Mrs. Helen Campbell, Rev. Lyman Abbott, D. D., Cal. Thomas W. Knox, and Inspector Thomas Byrnes, Chief of the New York Detective Bureau.

Mrs. Campbell, the principal writer, certainly was a woman commissioned of God, and "In His Name" spent many years as a city missionary. Literally "In Darkest New York." What wonderful work she did. How devoted and blessed her labors were. It is a story never to be forgotten. This unique volume presents these thrilling experiences of Christian endeavor with the hundreds of pathetic and amusing scenes that were packed into them; it portrays life in a great city by day and by night "As Seen by a Woman"; it shows the power of the Gospel to redeem souls from the lowest depths; it gives striking testimonies of the redeemed; and from all these rich and varied experiences it draws living truths for head and heart that are worth to any reader ten times the price of the book. Mrs. Campbell's account of rescue-work is full of wonderfully touching incidents. Stranger stories are here told than romance ever dreamed of, every one of them drawn from real life by a woman's hand. In every chapter she weaves in anecdote after anecdote, incident after incident, story after story, and the reader's attention is held breathless to the end of the volume. "Strange but most suggestive is the fact," says Bishop Cox in warmly commending this volume, "that Christ is to be visited in these dens and dives; the are those whom He will reach in mind when He says: 'Ye visited me; or, when he says: 'Ye did it not to Me.'"

Rev. Dr. Lyman Abbott's life-long interest in City Mission work, and his personal share in that work, pre-eminently fitted him to write for this book. In his introduction to it he says:—

"My interest in these phases of city life dates from my college days. From that day to this—over a third of a century—I have continued the studies then begun, and the subject of this book has been one of the greatest subjects of my study—sometimes in literature, often in life."

No appeal from temperance advocates can do more to promote the cause of temperance than the thrilling scenes and incidents so well described; at least so says Mrs. Mary A. Livers more and Miss Frances E. Willard. One of the most absorbingly interesting portions of the book is that written by Inspector Byrnes given the rich experience of thirty years of detective life. Many of the startling revelations he makes are taken from his private diary. They have never before been published.

This fascinating volume is indeed a wonderful tale of Christian love and faith, all alive with intense and striking reality. The best of it is that it is a pure and elevating book from beginning to end—a volume for the family circle. On this point the words of Rev. Dr. Twihell (who has a family of ten children) and Rev. Dr. Magoun, President Iowa College, are worth quoting here: Dr. Twihell writes:—"My wife says that she is going to set our young people on the look right off, for the good it will do them"; and President Magoun says:—"My family finds, where other books on our shelves lack interest, this one always holds and rewards attention."

It contains 252 superb engravings, every one of them made from photographs taken from life, mostly by flash-light. Every face is a portrait, every scene a stern reality. In looking at these splendid illustrations the reader sees at a glance just how Gospel work is carried on by day and by night by rescue bands; he is shown strange sights in out of the way places that are rarely or never seen by the casual visitor; he is taken into cheap lodging-houses and cellars; into the homes of the poor; into newsboys' lodging-houses; into the police and detective departments, etc.,—nothing seems to be omitted.

We do not know when 710 pages have given us more genuine pleasure. It is a book that richly deserves it. It is sold only by agents, and is meeting with an enormous sale. Agents who introduce such a work ought to be cordially welcomed. A better work has certainly never come to our table. It will be read over and over again by old and young, with every increasing pleasure and lasting profit.

The work is published by the old and well-known firm of A. D. Worthington & Co., Hartford, Conn., whose imprint is sufficient guarantee of the excellence of this first-class volume. Royal Octavo, 740 pages, 252 fine plates, portraits, and text illustrations.

It has been discovered that eye aches and watery containing sugar of lead often produce lead poisoning—fatal to sight, if not to life. You run a great risk in using such preparations. To effectually and speedily and permanently cure sore eyes, granulated lids or styas without the possibility of evil after effects, use Sutherland's Eagle Eye Salve. For sale by Z. Lock Has Never Entered to Any Person.

In replying to the query, "Does not luck sometimes play a goosy part in man's success?" Edward W. Bok, in the January Ladies' Home Journal, writes:

"Never. Henry Ward Beecher answered this question once for all when he said: 'No man prospers in the world by luck unless it be the luck of getting up early, working hard and maintaining honor and integrity.' What so often seems to many young men, on the surface, as being luck in a man's career, is nothing more than hard work done at some special time. 'The idea that luck is a factor in a man's success has ruined thousands. It has never helped a single person. A fortunate chance comes to a young man sometimes just at the right moment, and that some people call luck; but that chance was given because he had at some time demonstrated the fact that he was the right man for the chance."

"That is the only luck there is. Work hard, demonstrate your ability, and show to others that if an opportunity comes within your grasp you are able to use it."

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common water glass with nine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment of settling indicates a diseased condition in the kidneys. When mine stains linen it is positive evidence of kidney trouble. Too frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back, is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO. There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary system. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists price fifty cents and one dollar. For a sample bottle and pamphlet, both sent free by mail, mention THE HARTFORD REPUBLICAN and send your full post-office address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Birmingham, N. Y. TESLA CONFIDENT

Believes He Can Telegraph Without Wires.

Through Mountains, Oceans and Deserts.

Has Succeeded, He Says, in Solving the Problem of Disturbing Earth Currents.

The Realization of a Theory Long Entertained.

Nikola Tesla, the inventor, has in his little shop on East Houston at a machine which he believes will revolutionize telegraphy.

"Five years ago," said Tesla, when seen in his laboratory yesterday, "I demonstrated the fact that wires were not needed for the transmission of the electric current from point to point, and since that time I have been constantly experimenting with methods for putting my theories into practical effect."

"I have centered my efforts in producing a disturbance in the electrical currents of the earth itself. And I have succeeded."

"A single electric signal can be sent around the earth, by known ordinary means, in one sixteenth of a second. By my instruments this can be done in one forty-eighth of a second."

No wires are necessary to send telegraphic messages to any distance. The message is projected by producing a disturbance of the electric fluid of the earth, and is felt at all points of the earth, because the fluid is incompressible and transmits its impressions equally without the need of directing the course of such a message. Anybody in any part of the world possessing a receiver and the key to the code used can read the message. A person in the center of the plains of Africa or at the North Pole, in Australia or in San Francisco, can read the message projected from London or New York as easily as a person on the next block to the place of projection. It will be quite as easy to communicate with a ship in mid-ocean or a traveler at the North Pole.

"It is probably that a number of central stations will be established at great distances, for instance, the capital cities of countries and great centers of industry and commerce. From these stations the messages, private, public and news, will be projected by code to each other and transmitted to sub-stations and receiving offices all over the world."

"I am not, of course, prepared at present to make public any description of my paraphernalia, but I can say that I have mastered the secret, and it will not be very many months before telegraphic communication, as with a ship in mid-ocean, unconnected by wires of any kind with land, will be a matter of ease."

"No, by my method there can be no impediment to the transmission of a message. By all methods except mine, houses, hills and trees are impediments. These do not affect mine in the least."—[New York News.]

Evil after effects never follow the use of Dr. Bell's Peppermint Chill Tonic. It is a pleasant liver laxative. It makes rich, red blood. It makes stout, sound bone. It makes flesh. It makes rosy cheeks. All of this cures chills so they stay cured. Dealers guarantee it. For sale by Z. Wayne Griffin & Bro.

The meanest man has at last been found. The Louisville Commercial says he lives in Owensboro, but that is untrue. His home is in Bird's Eye and every time he spends a cent he takes chloroform so that he will not feel the pain of parting with it. His half brother is the stingiest man in the world. He uses a wart on the back of his neck in order to save spending a cent for an ordinary bore collar button.—[Telephone.]

Thousands of persons use Sutherland's Eagle Eye Salve who never did have sore eyes. It strengthens weak eyes—makes the vision clear and distinct. It is nice and convenient to use. You need it. Try it. For sale by Z. Wayne Griffin & Bro.

Green Hacks no Change.

A London judge has ruled that where a worshiper by mistake puts a larger amount than intended into the church collection box the money cannot be refunded on a plea of error, says the Ottawa Free Trader. The decision grew out of a suit brought by a woman who attends services in the fashionable Episcopal church at Regent's park against the vicar and church wardens, her contention being that, during a fit of mental aberration, she placed in the plate a novel (35) instead of a shilling (25 cents). She therefore sought to recover $4 75. The court held that the money had been given to the plate and it became an accepted offering to the Lord and that neither the church officials nor the courts are at liberty to authorize its return to the donor. This is said to be the first case and decision of the kind on record and may stand as a precedent for many generations to come.

A SICK WOMAN

Should Consult the Best Physician Possible.

If all the sick mothers, invalid daughters and diseased sisters in this broad land would write to Dr. Hartman when failing to find relief elsewhere, no pen could describe the benefit that would follow. There are so many women, especially married women, who drag themselves wearily around from year to year without any particular disease, and yet miserable beyond description. They ache and tremble and throb, growing more nervous, tired and deliberated every day. For this class of sufferers Pe-n-u-na is the most perfect remedy in existence. It relieves, it soothes, it quiets, it strengthens, and no tired, overworked women in Ireland should be without Pe-n-u-na in the house for a single day.

Those wishing a complete description of female diseases, their causes and cures, should send their address to The Pe-n-u-na Drug Manufacturing Company, Columbus, Ohio, for a free copy of "Facts and Faces," a book showing what Dr. Hartman's free treatment has done for a multitude of invalid women.

A BETTER FATE

Than that of Enoch Arden Had Wm. Easley.

A strange and extremely romantic story comes from Todd county:

Mr. Easley, a prosperous farmer, living near Elkton after a separation of forty-eight years was last week reunited to his wife who he found at Laporte, Ind.

Easley left his wife, a bride of 15 months, and a babe in the cradle, to seek a fortune for his family. He sold his property, and with one thousand dollars started overland for the Pacific coast to prospect in the mines. He took up a claim, and letters to his wife told of promised success. He was gone a year when his letters stopped. The wife did not despair, but months lapsed into years, and still Easley was not heard from. Mrs. Easley after ten years of weeping concluded that her husband was dead, and five years later she again married and moved to Indiana. Her second husband died in 1896, leaving the widow in indigent circumstances.

Easley having learned that his wife, whom he believed dead, was living, the sequel was that he found in Mrs. Henry Bowes the bride of his youth. Easley says he received advice in California that his wife was dead. He went from California to Todd county, Ky., where he is the owner of a large farm, and where the aged couple will spend their declining years.—[Hx.]

Cancer Of the Breast.

Mr. A. H. Cranby, of 158 Kerr St., Memphis, Tenn., says that his wife paid no attention to a small lump which appeared in her breast, but it soon developed into a cancer of the worst type, and the best physicians, it continued to spread and grow rapidly, eating two holes in her breast. The doctors soon pronounced her incurable. A celebrated New York specialist then treated her, but she continued to grow worse and when informed that both her aunt and grandmother had died from cancer he gave her the case up as hopeless.

Someone then recommended S.S.S. and though little hope remained, she began to feel better and an improvement was noticed. The cancer commenced to heal and when she had taken several bottles of S.S.S. the cancer had entirely disappeared, and although several years have elapsed, not a sign of the disease has ever returned.

If you have tears, prepare to shed them; when Hon. P. Wat Harlin is defeated for the Democratic nomination for Governor, which he certainly will be.

HERETOFORE when a Democratic ticket was nominated in this county the Herald always put up the device. Wonder what's the matter? They think they are fooling the Populists.

This reception accorded the President at Nashville was a rowing one. A Republican President is received as enthusiastically in Southern States as elsewhere. Sectionalism is a thing of the past.

There is a certain class of people in existence, who make it a special duty, to injure their best friends; the more favors a man bestows upon them, the more certain they are to sting him in the end. The blackest of crimes is ingratitude.

The sound money Democrats will hold a convention on July 14th to nominate a candidate for Clerk of the Court of Appeals. Indications are that the convention will be largely attended and enthusiastic. It is not in the cards for a free silver man to win in Kentucky this year.

The Democrats of Ohio county recognize the position in which they find themselves and their organ this week tries to make it appear that Mr. Parker, the Populist, did not want the Democrats to endorse him. The Herald says:

"But Mr. Parker nor any of the other well informed Populists of Kentucky expected the Democrats to endorse him in their State convention for Clerk of the Court of Appeals, and the effort of the Republican sheet here to create prejudice on this account are far-fetched to say the least. Such a move was not contemplated by anybody—not even the Fox ally editor."

We will see what Mr. Parker says about the Democracy and fusion. His paper, the Free Republic, says:

"Personally, I did all in my power for Bryan and the nine Democratic congressional candidates where we had no nominees. I spoke in every congressional district—in more than sixty counties. I never faltered once in that long drawn battle of 1895."

"But this year, in April, the Populist convention nominated me for Clerk of the Court of Appeals. I didn't seek a nomination—but stood to avoid it. I let the convention thought by making me the nominee after my incessant labor for the cause last year. The silver Democrats would at least show us a long delayed courtesy, and endorse my nomination and unite the silver vote."

"But let us note the Kentucky Democracy. Two months after my nomination, after I had through the public print given due notice that under circumstances would I withdraw from the race, they nominated another candidate, and divide the silver vote."

"At their convention, dozens named me there was no difference of principle between us. Then it was a difference of office; and for one little State office and two deputyships, the pie brigade of the Democracy deliberately served notice upon my party that its co-operation was not needed except when Populists vote for Democratic nominees."

The Herald's puny attempt to shove the blame off onto the Populists will not work. It would have been right for the silver Democracy to have endorsed Mr. Parker. How can the Democratic candidates of Ohio county have the cheek to solicit Populist votes after the fight they made against Mr. Parker here and at Frankfort. The blame is with the Democratic party.

PISO'S CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.
Cures where all else fails. Best Cough Syrup. Cures Croup. Use in time. Sold by druggists.

The blackberry crop this year will be enormous.

Hon. W. A. HARVEY, better known as "Coke," delivered an address in Louisville last week on the subject of the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the rate of 16 to 1. His crowd was small.

There will be a Populist ticket on the official ballot in November, and the only name appearing on that ticket will be Hon. J. A. Parker, the Populist nominee for Clerk of the Court of Appeals.

The fusion ticket in this county will be placed on the ballot directly under the rooster and will be designated as "the Democratic Ticket," and will be under the direct control of the Democratic committee.

In the next election there will be the following tickets on the ballot: The Republican, the Democratic, the Populist, the National Democratic and perhaps the Prohibitionists. Those gentlemen who were nominated in this county as Populists will appear on the official ballot as Democrats, from the simple fact that they will be under the rooster, which is the Democratic design.

The wheat crop will be good this year. All other crops did fair to yield abundant and abundant harvest. We have a sound and staple currency, and will soon have an American protective tariff. Prosperity is coming. Its golden beams are already dispersing the gloom created by four years of Democratic rule and ruin. No one is heard to croak hard times except disappointed politicians out of a job.

Hon. H. W. STOKES has assumed control of the Grayson Eagle. He was once before editor of that paper and under his editorship it attained a very high degree of strength and general efficiency. He will now make the paper all it was under his former management and more too. The paper will soar to greater heights than it has yet reached and will lend valuable aid to the cause of Republicanism in Grayson county. We wish Mr. Stokes the greatest possible success in the field of journalism.

The Herald this week asks us if the Republicans will support the nominees of the gold Democratic convention for Clerk of the Court of Appeals, and we will answer that we think not. The sound money Democrats represent the best element of the Democratic party, who hold principles above office and they will not lose with any party. It would be the death of the sound money Democratic party to go into a fusion agreement just the same as it will kill the Populist party to fuse with the silver Democratic party, hence we think there will be no fusion.

Some of the rank Democratic papers of the State are always charging the Republicans with the present condition of the State Treasury when they are not responsible. The following from the Owensboro Inquirer, Democratic, is a frank admission of the facts:

"Some of the State papers are holding the Republicans wholly responsible for the depleted condition of the treasury, but this is unjust. The Republicans have been in power two years and things have gone from bad to worse in that time, but the responsibility for the condition of affairs rests with those economical patriots who refused taxation to the extent of cents on the dollar over the veto of Gov. Buckner. It is as well to be fair about the matter."

SOME Kentucky newspapers seem to derive some comfort from the fact that a mob has hung a man in the State of Ohio, which is a northern state. Mobs in the North are no excuse for mobs in the South, and the wide spread disposition of our citizens to take the law in their own hands, only points to the existence of a very bad and deplorable state of affairs among the people. Mobs now and then hang an innocent man, and frequently hang men for crimes not punishable by death under the law. And yet there is no doubt that many members of the mob called upon to try a case of murder would excuse themselves from the jury on the grounds that they had conscientious scruples against capital punishment.

WHAT IS A DEMOCRAT, ANYHOW?

The hardest word to define in the English language is the word "Democrat." It is said that foreigners who come to America, find their greatest trouble in learning our language, in the fact that the same word can mean so many different things. For instance there is the word "well." It can be used in three or more different ways. For example as an interjection: "Well is that so?" As an adverb: "The man who was sick is well." And as a noun: "Get me a drink of cool water from the well."

Such as this mixes a foreigner up. It is even hard for native born Americans sometimes to use the right word in the right place.

They are finding much trouble in this regard at present with the word Democrat. Mr. Grover Cleveland is a Democrat. Hon. J. A. Parker is a Democrat. Hon. J. A. C. C. is a Democrat. Mr. Hill of New York, has said, "I am a Democrat." Messrs. P. Wat Harlin and J. C. S. Blackburn are Democrats. Mr. B. D. Ringo, a former editor of the Herald, is a Democrat. Mr. Herbert Mauch, who now edits the Lee and is a Democrat.

erat. But we find among these men differences of opinions on important issues. They represent all sorts of ideas and opinions, and yet are Democrats.

What is a Democrat anyhow? Let us see. The Democratic platform adopted at Chicago resulted in a split in the Democratic party; as a result large numbers of sound money Democrats supported Maj. McKinley either directly or indirectly. Sound money Democrats agreed with the Republicans as far as finances are concerned.

What next? We now find in the U. S. Senate many Democratic Senators who are willing to vote for a protective tariff on wool, sugar and cotton. The protective tariff policy of the Republican party is being endorsed by Democratic U. S. Senators.

We are also informed by the Protective Tariff League that many Democratic papers throughout the South are demanding tariff literature—papers that once were insulting to the League because it offered them such literature. Large numbers of Democrats, therefore, are standing on the financial and tariff planks of the Republican party.

This is not all. The Populists at present are engaged in a bitter fight to keep the Democrats from crowding them off their platform. If the Populists do not keep in the middle of the road it is only a matter of time until Populists will have to get down on their knees before the Democrats and pray: "Please friendly Democrats, can we get up on our platform?"

In view of the facts, it appears that a Democrat can be anything and everything. We, therefore give this definition to the word Democrat: A Democrat is a being of the human species, who has no defined views on political issues; a being, whose privilege it is, to believe in and advocate any principle that will land him in office no matter how great or small.

National Democratic State Convention.

A State Convention of the Democrats of Kentucky, who adhere to Democratic principles and are opposed to the declarations and doctrines of the Chicago and Frankfort platforms of 1896 and 1897, is hereby called to meet in the city of Louisville, Kentucky, on Wednesday, July 14, 1897, at 2 o'clock p. m., standard time, for the purpose of nominating a Democratic candidate for Clerk of the Court of Appeals, to be voted for at the ensuing November election.

The basis of representation shall be one delegate for each two hundred votes cast for Cleveland by each county and legislative district at the presidential election in 1892; and one delegate for each fraction over one hundred votes; provided that in any county not having cast as many as two hundred votes at said election of 1892 such county shall be entitled to one delegate in said State Convention.

For the purpose of selecting delegates to said State Convention, a mass meeting in each county shall be held on Saturday, July 10, at 2 o'clock p. m., standard time, at the county seat thereof, at which mass meeting such Democrats of the county shall choose the delegates to which they are entitled, upon the above basis of representation. In Keaton and Campbell counties, the meetings shall be in Covington and Newport respectively.

The mass meeting in each county shall be called to order by the county chairman, who shall serve as chairman of the county meeting until a permanent chairman is elected; and it shall be the duty of said county chairman to see that said meeting is fairly and properly organized, and that the delegates therefrom are fairly and properly chosen by the expressed will of a majority of such Democrats attending said meeting; and also to see that the duly chosen chairman and secretary of such mass meeting properly certify the list of delegates chosen; which certificates shall be signed by the county chairman appointed to call such meetings to order in the county.

In the absence of the county chairman so selected to call such meeting to order, the meeting shall itself organize and select its own chairman, and he, together with the secretary, shall certify the list of delegates.

In the event that any county shall fail to hold such mass meeting, or elect delegates, those present from such county at the State Convention shall be authorized to act as delegates from such county.

By order of the Executive Committee.
GEORGE M. DAVIS, Louisville, Chairman.

WASHINGTON.

Situation at the National Capitol.

WASHINGTON, June 15, 1897.

The most hopeful man on the Republican side of the Senate could scarcely have anticipated the speed that has been made this week in disposing of the tariff bill. Not only has there been gratifying progress, but the Republican Senators in their caucus determined to accept the House sugar schedule with a slight amendment, instead of the schedule framed by the Senate committee. This will not only close the mouths of those who were bound to attack the Senate sugar schedule as favorable to the trust but will also reduce the time that the bill is likely to occupy in the conference committee. It strengthens greatly the belief that the bill will become a law during the present month.

bill will become a law during the present month.

HAS CONGRESS BEEN SLOW?
In this connection it is interesting to inquire whether Congress has really been slow in its work on the tariff bill, and this inquiry develops the remarkable fact that no President since Washington has had an opportunity to attach his signature to a tariff law within as brief a space of time after his inauguration as will William McKinley, unless some entirely unexpected development shall interrupt the progress toward its early completion. There is good reason to believe that the tariff bill will pass the Senate within the present month and that President McKinley will have an opportunity to sign it within four months of the date of his inauguration. Given President Lincoln, who came into office under extraordinary conditions and circumstances, and with war in prospect, did not sign his first tariff act until August 5, 1861. President William Henry Harrison shortly after his inauguration on March 4, 1841, because of the condition of finances and revenue, yet that Congress did not put its tariff bill upon the statute books until August 30, 1842. President Polk, who was inaugurated on March 4, 1845, did not sign his tariff act until July 30, 1846; Pierce, who was inaugurated in 1853, signed his tariff act March 3, 1857; Grant was inaugurated March 4, 1869, and signed his first tariff act July 15, 1870, and another June 6, 1872. The Garfield administration was inaugurated March 4, 1881, yet the tariff act signed by President Arthur was dated March 3, 1883; President Benjamin Harrison was inaugurated March 4, 1889, and signed his first tariff act October 1, 1890; Grover Cleveland and his free trade Congress came into power March 4, 1893, yet the Wilson tariff, which he refused to sign, did not become a law until August 28, 1894. In nearly all of the above cases both branches of Congress were in accord with the Executive politically, a single party controlling Senate as well as House. When it is considered that the Republican party, which controls the House, has only but 43 of the 89 members of Senate, the fact that its leaders have been able to make the speed which they have developed in the consideration of this and other important legislation should satisfy the most exacting, it they but take the trouble to compare present conditions and present progress with that of any other period in the history of the country.

GOOD NEWS FROM THE BUSINESS WORLD.
Reports from business centers which reach members of Congress here are extremely gratifying. Dun's Review, which is accepted as a reliable business barometer, not controlled or influenced by political or other causes which would affect its accuracy, presents the most satisfactory trade statement for last week that has been made since the present business depression began. That statement was remarkable in its showing of the decided decrease in embarrassments in all branches of trade and in reports of unusual activity in all the industries. In anticipation of the passage of the tariff bill. The failures reported in most branches of trade are less in the last thirty six months, while the volume of business transacted is, in quantity, larger than in 1892, the year of our greatest prosperity, the slight reduction in value being due to the smaller prices paid for the article of commerce handled. When it is remembered that this happens before the new tariff bill gets upon the statute books, and with the industries of the country depressed by the importations of foreign goods at the rate of over a hundred millions a month, the improvement thus noted is very remarkable.

Children's Day was observed at No Creek last Sunday and a large crowd was in attendance. The exercises were perfect in every particular and the little folks acquitted themselves handsomely. Dinner was served on the ground and it was quite an enjoyable day for all who attended.

The discovery of the North Pole would not be a greater scientific triumph than, as a political triumph, has proved the discovery of the error in the transmission of the Democratic faith of the fathers upon the question of a protective tariff by Senator Rawlings, of Utah. It is curious, but not unnatural, that the transportation of a word should have been attended by consequences of such importance. Believing that the fathers of the party had decreed that a tariff for revenue "only" was the faith delivered to the sinners, the later generations of Democrats have entered into several campaigns with this for their loudest war-whoop, and in the battle of 1892 conquered under banners bearing this strange device.

The fearful disaster brought upon the country by the attempt to enforce this article of party faith; the disastrous failure to raise enough revenue and the increase of the public debt in consequence, resulted in overwhelming the Democratic party in public contempt and defeat in 1862. Of course able leaders of that party were industriously laboring to understand what made the cyclone strike them so hard. Senator Rawlings struck the right trail and has discovered the cause. It appears that the tariff dogma dictated by the fathers was, not that tariffs should be constructed for revenue "only," but that they should provide for "only enough" revenue. This, of course did not declare against protection. Indeed, the Senator shows that these departed paternal Democrats were just as keen to have all articles in which their States were interested protected by legislation as any free trade Democrats for revenue only of the present day.

The transportation of this word "only" led to a wrong interpretation of Democratic faith, and is responsible for the overthrow of the party, because of the destruction to the material interests of the country caused by the unfortunate error. The discovery and correction of the mistake will be of great benefit to the country and the party, and will be hailed by thousands of Democrats with happy hearts, who all along have suspected that they were not honest converts to the free trade faith. Indeed, our esteemed free trader will now learn that the goddess who has followed with such devotion for so many years, is but a deceitful Cyrenian, whose artificial beauty has attracted his innocent soul from the path of true statesmanship, and that his in his admiration for her he has sacrificed merely to "a rag, a bone and a bank of hair."—[Commercial.

SURPLUS AND NO SURPLUS.
There is a surplus in the Treasury which, though it was placed there by the sale of bonds of the United States to help out the deficiency caused by the failure of Democratic revenue legislation to provide the necessary revenues, still the surplus is there. This makes the question of necessary national revenue less important for the moment in comparison with the question of promptly excluding foreign importations in the interests of protection. There is a surplus in the Treasury, but there is no surplus in the pockets of the American workingmen who want employment.
Such conditions must speak with trumpet tongues in the ears of United States Senators, and should urge the passage of the Tariff bill at the earliest possible day. There should be no delay for fine quibbling over the amount of revenue the bill will produce. Fix up the rates on Protective lines and send the measure upon its mission of Protection to American industries and workmen.
No member of the United States Senate should be left in doubt of the anxiety among the people for the speedy passage, in some reasonable form, of the Dingley bill. Members of the House are urging the matter, and the people throughout the country are making their voices heard in the Senate.—[Economist.]

Taylor, of Greenville, where she was visiting, and the remains were entered in Oakwood Cemetery near here yesterday morning after funeral services at the residence of her brother, Mr. W. G. Hardwick, conducted by Rev. J. S. McDaniel.

She was a consistent member of the Methodist Church and had lived an upright christian life. She leaves a husband and a host of friends and relatives to mourn her loss.

A SUICIDE.

An Ohio County Girl Kills Herself With Morphine at Fort Worth, Tex.

News of the suicide of an Ohio county girl at Fort Worth, Tex., reached the city through private channels. The name of the young lady was Miss Jennie Sharer, and she was born and reared near Cranwell.

Miss Sharer received a good common school education, but being bright and ambitious she pushed her way through college by her own exertions, and finally took a business course at Bowling Green. She then went to Arkansas where she taught school, and subsequently went to Texas, where she again entered the school room. She was offered the situation for the second term, but wept and told the school officials that she was a failure in the school room and declined the place. They tried to reassure her but she could not be argued into accepting. The brother of one of the school board was sheriff of the county and knowing her capacity he gave her a place in his office. She proved a very valuable acquisition, and her salary was raised at once.

Two or three months later she announced that she could not stay in the office any longer, being satisfied that she was not competent to perform the duties required of her. The sheriff offered her another raise in her salary but she could not be prevailed on to stay, and secured employment in the family of a Mr. Smith, a former Kentuckian, in Fort Worth. She was an admirable house keeper and rapidly established a place in the affections of the family. Last Friday the family went away from home and left her alone. Three hours later Mr. Smith went home and found the house locked up. When he went in he found her lying on the floor dead with a bottle of morphine by her side. Along with it was a note saying that her life was a failure and recounting the attempts that she had made to earn a living. She attributed her lack of success to incapacity and want of education, a state of affairs exactly the reverse of the truth. Among her effects was a letter from a young man named J. R. Davis at Mena, Ark., where she had formerly taught. It was evident that they were engaged to be married, and also that it was her own fault that the ceremony had not been performed, and that she accused herself of unworthiness, which idea was depreciated by her sweetheart.

From all that can be gathered it is evident that she was afflicted with a morbid sensibility that finally wrecked her mind and led her to take her life. Her people are among the best citizens of Ohio and Butler counties, and the news of her death was a great shock to them. A strange thing about it is that her home letters, which were very frequent, were extremely cheerful, her situation and prospects being spoken of in the most satisfactory terms.—[Inquirer.]

Jno. Willis left home about two weeks ago and has not been heard of since. He had been working for Esqr. Vaughn and left without telling anyone where he was going.

WHERE IS IT?

Geo. Miles, of Davidson, Hunting for Some Lost Money.

Mr. George Miles, of Davidson station, Ohio county, is in the city on the hunt of $5,000, which his father is known to have had before he died.

Evan A. Miles was a hard working farmer, who lived near Fordsville, as honest as men are ever made, and one of the most successful tobacco raisers in the country where he lived. He had a large family, but was very economical, and it was always thought that he made more money than he spent, though no one ever knew that he had any great amount of ready cash by him. The only hint he ever gave of it was three or four years ago, when he took a trip to Shelby county. On starting from home he took his daughter aside and told her that if anything should happen so that he did not get back he had enough money in bank to bury him and give the children $500 apiece. He came home and nothing was ever said about it.

When he died he gave directions
